FBSSES REPORT

WE ARE PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE that once again this year the Comox Valley Pacific Salmon Foundation Fundraising Dinner and Dance was a resounding success. Thanks to the many donations, willing participants and hardworking Committee members, headed by Judy Ackinclose, over $40,000 will be available to Comox Valley fish enhancement organizations in 2018.

Who among us doesn't pay attention to the weather? Especially when it is blowing 70 km/h and graces us with 60 mm of rain in 24 hours! The fish love it! This heralds in the chum and coho salmon to local creeks. Once again volunteers will be entering Rosewall and Wilfred Creeks to capture adult coho and chum for brood stock. Now you may have wondered what exactly does that mean and how is it accomplished? Well brood capture and egg take is an enhancement method, in part utilizing chest waders, nets, Zack knives, large aluminum basins, ice cream buckets and baking soda!! Now, we encourage all you curious folks to come to the hatchery for a visit to see how all these items play a part in brood take!

We are now up to 30,000 adipose fin clipped coho fry with 40,000 left to go. As well, the 30,000 salvaged coho fry (from Cook, Rosewall, Hart, McNaughton, Emily and Hindoo creeks) will shortly be returned to their natal streams.

Fall time is an excellent time for planting! And not just your garlic but for riparian areas too! Four hundred trees have just left the tree nursery at the hatchery for Little River Enhancement Society and a coalition of volunteers in the Saanich area. We expect more orders shortly.

Our work parties are Wednesdays and Saturdays, 9 am to 12 pm, at Rosewall Creek hatchery on Berray Road. Come and pot up a tree, clip an adipose fin and find out what the heck baking soda has to do with fish eggs!!!! For more information, visit our website www.fbses.ca.

FANNY BAY NATURALLY

We were enjoying the warm sunshine on the patio in early October when a strident “chip, chip, chip” jolted us out of our reverie. A small bird was perched on the peak of the roof. Although it was hard to make him out against the glare of the sun, his light-coloured beak was a clue. “A junco?” I ventured. We looked in the bird book, and sure enough, he was a dark-eyed junco. The book mentioned that juncos usually appear in backyards in early autumn, and this one was right on cue, seemingly intent on calling his pals to the perfect winter retreat. “Chip, chip, chip,” he went, on and on and on. His announcements must have worked, as there is now a resident flock of juncos in our yard.

Dark-eyed juncos are songbirds belonging to the sparrow family. A dark rounded head with a light pinkish bill distinguish the junco from other small birds. Dark-eyed juncos are brown or grey on their backs and breasts, with white bellies. Tails are dark in the centre and white on the edges. Females have slightly paler plumage than males.

You’ll find juncos in fields, roadsides, parks, gardens, and edges of coniferous and mixed forests. Predation, habitat destruction, and collisions with man-made structures have had a negative impact on the survival of dark-eyed juncos. Despite these challenges, they are one of the most numerous small birds in North America.

Flocks of 15 to 25 juncos are common during winter, with the territory of a winter flock covering 10 to 12 acres. Juncos warn other members of the group about potential danger by chirping loudly or showing their white tail feathers. When disturbed, the entire flock will suddenly fly up to a tree, chirping in aggravation at the intruder. Hawks, owls, squirrels, weasels, and cats are some of their enemies.

Mating season begins in April, with two to three broods a season. Juncos form monogamous pairs (mate for life). The male delivers sticks, leaves, and moss to the female, who builds a cup-shaped nest on the ground, hidden under large plants, logs, or roots. Three to six light coloured, spotted eggs are laid, which hatch in just under two weeks. Babies leave the nest in another two weeks, and are fully independent at only three weeks of age. Dark-eyed juncos usually live three to eleven years in the wild.

Dark-eyed juncos make a variety of sounds, with fast trills, whistles, warbles, tick sounds, and high-pitched chips all part of the repertoire. Juncos are known among birdsong experts as having an excellent “bird language” for study.

Juncos will be happy with whatever bird seed is in your feeder - they like black oil or hulled sunflower seeds, nyjer seed, cracked corn, millet, and oats, to name a few. Large hopper or platform feeders work well for juncos but the ground is where you’ll usually find them. In fact, juncos spend about 65% of their time on the ground, skittishly hopping about, looking for food. Their diet consists of seeds and berries for the most part, supplemented with small insects during the summer.

My dad says that the birds at his feeder this autumn seem hungrier than usual. Perhaps our hot dry summer has not produced enough wild food for them or they know something we don’t about the winter to come! If you haven’t already, put up a bird feeder and keep it filled with bird seed. You’ll be rewarded with visitors all winter long!

FANNY BAY COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION CONCERT SERIES

Friday November 10th sees the return to the 'Live At Fanny Bay Hall' concert series of Canadian singer, songwriter, musician and storyteller, Kent Fiddy, accompanied by the fabulous guitarist, David Sinclair.

Kent Fiddy and David Sinclair are Juno, B.C. Country Music and Vancouver Island Music Award nominees. They are artists who weave the past and contemporary into a unique tapestry. The material is pure Canadiana in the way the songs celebrate stories, events and people from sea to sea. Song include - Ripple Rock (B.C), Ice Road (NWT), The Heart of the Country, (Prairies and Ontario), Farley on a Harley, (Maritimes), and Bob Bartlett, (Nfd.). And yet, there is so much more.... songs of the heart about relationships, reconciliation and hope. David Sinclair's brilliant solo songs and guitar compositions display his stellar musicianship, vocal ability and forty years of professional touring and recording experience. Together, with impeccable harmonies, they combine as an original mix of pop, Celtic, country and jazz-influenced roots. This is Canadiana Roots Music at its very best.

They first appeared here in 2014 and were a resounding success, playing to a near sell-out crowd.

The difference is community

Though the credit union movement is definitely growing in popularity, we're still occasionally asked, "How's a credit union different?"

While there are several defining features that distinguish credit unions from other financial institutions, the most significant is our connection to the communities we serve.

Union Bay Credit Union is a 100% member-owned cooperative and, as such, we reinvest our profits into those communities - from Bowser to Royston and Denman to Hornby. This "giving back" takes the form of bursaries to local students, support of homegrown non-profits and even Community Connect gift certificates that benefit both local organizations and local businesses.

Already this year we've invested $14,000 in our local communities, supporting 21 different community groups in the process. On top of that, we award up to $5,250 in bursaries each year to local students pursuing post-secondary education and we ensure that every single voting member, as a part-owner of the cooperative, is eligible for an annual dividend payment.

When you get to the heart of the matter, giving back is what credit unions are all about. And because all of our decisions are made right here at our branches in Union Bay, Bowser and on Hornby Island, we'll continue to support those communities. After all, our credit union is only as strong as the communities we serve.

This is where we live, this is where we work and this is where, with the help of our members, we're helping to build more resilient communities. Do you represent a local community group? Apply for funding at ubcu.ca.

Chipping Day a Success!

The Ships Point Volunteer Firefighter Association (SPVFA) held its inaugural Chipping Day on September 30, which was very well received by the community. Many thanks to the 40 Ships Point households who had their yard waste chipped, and especially to the volunteer firefighters who gave up their weekend to run the chipper.

In addition to reducing air pollution in our community by turning yard waste into mulch, the SPVFA, a registered charitable organization, raised funds that will make a direct impact to our community. Donations are used to replace outdated equipment, and to provide training for firefighters, first responders, and emergency preparedness. A current goal for the SPVFA is to replace its cumbersome gas generator-run lights with a mobile battery-operated lighting system, which can save precious time during night-time emergencies and increase safety for firefighters when working in dark conditions.

Because this event was so successful, the SPVFA plans to hold another Chipping Day at the end of March. Stay tuned for more details, and save your yard waste for the chipper!

THE BEAUFORT WATERSHED Committee is the new kid on the block for the Fanny Bay area and we would like to inspire you to support us in protecting your drinking water.

Why do we need a committee to protect our watershed? There are many regulations protecting the environment. Surely these are adequate to safeguard our drinking water? Sadly, there are cases nearby that should cause concern about the adequacy of the regulations, the monitoring being done and the enforcement of these regulations.

For example, in 2012, against overwhelming community opposition, the provincial government approved a permit to allow dumping of contaminated soil at a quarry above Shawnigan Lake. Within eight months of operation, VIHA had issued a "DO NOT USE" advisory for people downstream. Although further testing was done, and the water was ruled safe to drink, it tasted bad and caused staining. The dumping permit has since been revoked, but water quality remains a problem for the residents.

Closer to home creosoted timbers are being dumped in a quarry in Campbell River threatening local drinking water and fish habitat. Community members are fighting the dumping and other plans to dump further toxic wastes. Check out the explanatory video at www.youtube.com/watch?v=YvZK5uEEbo

In both of these cases the community was required to react to a threat that had been poorly studied or inaccurately portrayed. By the time they had mobilized support damage was already being done. Our intent as a committee is to monitor threats to our drinking water BEFORE they occur. Check out our website at www.beaufortwater.org/ to see how you can join or contact us.

NEW ENGINE 81 FOR FANNY BAY FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fanny Bay Fire department was please to take delivery of a new pumper at the end of August. The truck was built by Fort Garry Fire Trucks in Winnipeg. A long and involved process to develop a wish list of requirements was completed by the departmental truck committee. After filtering the "wish list" through the available budget, a final list of specifications was completed. This process took 2 years from start to finish. Be advised that all Fanny Bay Fire members are still working together after some heated discussions on what or what not would be left off or added to the trucks final configuration. The new unit replaces the existing 20 year old pumper which will be utilized by the CVRD at another site. I wish to acknowledge all members of the Fanny Bay Fire Department for providing suggestions, comments and feedback at each stage of the process. Also I would like to thank James Bast, Manager of Emergency Services for his continued help and support during this project.
