We appreciate our volunteers whether they can help for just one event, one season or many years of selfless service. The Hall is busy with countless activities and hall grounds maintenance.

One such volunteer is Maxine Gibson, who for 13 years has picked up this Flyer when it is ready at Speedy Printing in Courtenay and delivered it to the Union Bay post office. She then drove to Bowser to leave copies at 'pick-up' locations and with advertisers who don't conveniently receive the Flyer in their mailboxes. Upon coming to the decision to leave this volunteer position Maxine writes:

"It was my pleasure as a newcomer to Fanny Bay to start delivering the Flyer 13 years ago. I had the good fortune to meet new people, whom over the years became friends. I shall miss them and the little journey's to Bowser at the end of each month. Also, many thanks to Nina and Linda for their service, help, and kindness. Hope to see you out and about in the future. God Bless."

AGM The board was delighted to have a robust attendance at our AGM on March 21st. Over 40 community members were given the president's message (posted to website - fannybaycommunity.com), a financial report, and were asked to approve the operating budget for 2019.

Alaine French made a presentation for approval of a capital project to replace the flooring throughout the hall. The fir floor in the main hall is at least 89 years old. Watch the Flyer for more information about fundraising and grant writing to reach this goal.

Keir Gervais informed us of the successful receipt of a grant from New Horizons For Seniors Program for a dog park. Aside from fencing and rules, programs with trainers, vet techs and even an adopt a dog program will be integrated. A steering committee will be meeting to consider the needs and make plans for a useful and successful park.

Enjoy Life on the Island

ARE YOU PREPARED? EARTHQUAKES

Did you know the Pacific Coast is the most earthquake-prone region in Canada? More than 100 earthquakes of a magnitude greater than 5.0 on the Richter scale have occurred in the past 70 years.

Why so many? Our coast is part of the Pacific Ring of Fire - a large arc around the Pacific Ocean where about 90% of the world's earthquakes occur. The ring is made up of many active faults, or breaks in the earth's crust. The plates that make up the earth's crust are constantly moving at a speed of 2-10 cm per year. That's about as fast as your fingernails grow!

An earthquake occurs when the plates slide against each other. If you feel strong shaking, follow three steps:

1. DROP onto your hands and knees.
2. COVER your head and neck (and your body if possible) under a table or desk.
3. HOLD ON to your shelter until the shaking stops.

Do you have a plan for what happens next...

BEAUFORT WATERSHED STEWARDS

is pleased to present, with the support of the Fanny Bay Community Association, a Town Hall meeting to discuss local water issues. Water continues to be a hot topic in our community, in the Province and, really, the whole world. Our hope is that this town Hall will give us all a deeper understanding of some water basics.

Pat Lapcevic is Section Head of Water Protection in the Ministry of Forests, Lands, Natural Resource Operations and Rural Development. She will lay the groundwork (pun intended) for our understanding of aquifers and watersheds. William Shulba is a Freshwater Geoscientist working as Senior Freshwater Specialist for the Islands Trust. He will be discussing the geological underpinnings specific to our area. Both are knowledgeable and engaging speakers. Jennifer Southerst is a professional biologist and Estuary Co-ordinator with Project Watershed with experience leading group discussions. She will be facilitating the group discussions that will follow the two presentations.

Please plan to attend this important meeting. And bring your questions and concerns.

Fanny Bay Community Hall, Sunday, April 7, 2019 from 2 - 4pm, doors open at 1:30 pm.

BWS, based in Fanny Bay, is a registered non-profit organization whose mission is to advocate for a healthy watershed that sustains the quality and quantity of our water for future generations.

Burn Permits

Burn permits will be required for backyard burning effective April 15, 2019. Burn permits can be rescinded at the discretion of the SPID Fire Department. Permit applications are available at spid.ca or the SPID office. Please monitor the SPID Community Welcome Board for fire closure notices. Residents are required to adhere to all regulations regarding fire safety and the Ventilation Index whether a burn permit is required or not. Please check spid.ca/FDept/ for more information.

A reminder that one of the most critical factors for protecting air quality during yard waste burning is the province's Venting Index. The Venting Index forecasts local weather patterns that indicate whether airborne pollutants, such as smoke, will disperse or remain trapped at ground level.

BC restricts outdoor burning when the index is POOR (0-33) or FAIR (34-54). Open burning when the Ventilation Index is POOR or FAIR may risk a fine from the BC Conservation Officer Service. Please check the Venting Index and burn yard waste only when the forecast is GOOD (55-100).

The vent index is updated daily at spid.ca which includes a link to an interactive map. It's also available at www.env.gov.bc.ca/epd/epdpa/venting/ or toll-free 1-888-281-2992 (select Central Vancouver Island from the menu).

APRIL IS A BUSY MONTH

at Fanny Bay Salmonid Enhancement Society world headquarters on Berray Road and at the Wilfred Creek hatchery. Not only for all the routine work that always needs doing and gets done, but for the events that make it a key part of the year. April is when - drum roll here, please - our three smolt counting fences go into action, thousands and thousands of chum and coho alevins are moved into holding tanks, more thousands of salvaged wild salmon go back out into their home creeks, and all the advance planning and organizing for the River Never Sleeps Festival happens.

All of these events take place only because of the dedication combined with muscle power and smart thinking that is such a normal part of our daily success story here on the banks of the mighty Rosewall, something all of you on Ships Point can appreciate because we're here for you, and the salmon. Don't thank us, we'd do all this wonderful stuff even if no one noticed, because we're all so modest and unassuming. (That's the theme music from Titanic you hear.)

Our three fences started as one, on Waterloo Creek, which was moved to Mud Bay Creek for good reasons, and then another was added on Cook Creek, and the third at Wilfred. Each gets visited every day during counting season and all the wild things collected in a holding box are enumerated, cataloged and recorded, then released to go on their way. FBS volunteers do all this in addition to their regular attendance at work party days and chores like feeding, moving, counting, weighing, hovering and helicopter parenting thousands of brood stock and salvage fish.

This year will be the start of something else new and different, because we're always up for that sort of thing. Previous years have seen us rescue wild salmon fry from drying creeks in warm weather, and release them in fall. This year we will be sending out rescued wild fish after an extra year of holding and feeding in an attempt to improve their chances of survival. Those chances are small enough, but we do extra work like this because not only are we smart and strong, we care. (Some soaring choral background music would be nice here)

Also new and different every year is our Annual Open House, The River Never Sleeps, on May 5, 2019, because even though this is its 10th straight year, we invent it from the ground up every time. And we do it for you, in case I haven't mentioned that lately. We have live music at the event, and depending where you are, at the face or fish painting, trying fly casting or meeting an owl, it can either be background or in your face. Free admission, goodie bags, family friendly concession pricing, oysters from Macs, it gets better every year.

Other great things we've been doing recently are hosting two separate enhancement related events; a workshop for people learning how to prevent stream bank erosion, and a Project Watershed planning session for environmental efforts on our coastline. And we're here for you every Wednesday and Saturday mornings, and we are informative, but modest, of course, on www.fbses.ca

SPVFD AWARDS DINNER

The Ships Point Volunteer Fire Department held their annual awards dinner on March 2 to say thank you to the firefighters and first responders who volunteer their time and skills to help make Ships Point a great place to live. In addition to the countless hours spent on training courses, practicing, fund-raising, promoting fire safety, shining up the trucks, and drying hoses, they also show up to help maintain trails, assist in traffic control and parking for community events, run the community chipping program, the blue bottle program, and of course give Santa a ride to meet his smallest fans at Christmas. Service awards were presented to Ingrid Welch and Ken Hayes - 5 years; Frank Lines and Bill Trussler - 10 years; and Bob Timbers - 15 years. Art Davis was also honoured for his incredible 25 years with the SPVFD. Art retired to Ships Point from Vancouver after 35 years of public service in policing for the RCMP and Vancouver Police Department. Art has variously been described as a great mentor, a lover of music and red wine, a terrible dancer, a life-long learner, a world traveler and a compassionate, thoroughly decent and ethical human being who looks very good in a kilt. This gentleman should be cloned on an industrial scale!

FANNY BAY NATURALLY

As a child, my daughter had a book, "The Best Nest," which sent me into gales of laughter whenever I read it to her. It was an engaging story laced with an underlying vein of satire on spousal relationships. Although Mr. Bird loves his home, Mrs. Bird is tired of their old nest and wants a new one. Subscribing to the happy-wife, happy life theory, Mr. Bird offers up many alternatives, none of which quite fit the bill. The last one ends in disaster, and Mrs. Bird goes missing. Mr. Bird returns home in despair, only to find Mrs. Bird sitting on the old nest, saying it's the best nest after all.

In nature, bird nests are seldom used more than once, although the site may be the same as, or close to, the previous year's. Even birds that raise several broods a year generally use a new nest for each. The most obvious reason is that most nests are not durable enough to last very long. An exception in our area is the bald eagle, which builds a large platform nest and merely adds to it every year.

Nest building is hard work. To save energy, some species dismantle last year's model, using parts of it to build a new nest nearby, while others simply lay new material on top of the old nest, even if it contains last year's eggshells and dead chicks! Some, such as the great horned owl, adopt nests built by other species. Many make use of cavities, both natural and human-made. Other species, the belted kingfisher being one, nest in burrows. A few do not build nests at all - killdeer lay their eggs directly on the ground.

Most bird species, however, do construct a new nest every year. After selecting a site which is camouflaged and/or inaccessible by predators, the bird, most often the female, gathers materials for the nest which, depending on the species, includes twigs, grasses, leaves, moss, spider silk, fur, feathers, and mud. Parasite control is undertaken by some, adding in bits of yarrow, lavender, or other aromatically repellent plants.

Some warnings about nesting materials - please DO NOT put out yarn, string, or human hair for bird nests! Such material can get wrapped around a bird's foot or leg, sometimes resulting in the loss of the foot or entire leg. Dryer lint is another no-no; it retains water and may contain unhealthy chemicals. Don't offer pet fur if your pets are treated with topical flea/tick/lice treatments. Birds really don't need our nesting materials; they have plenty of natural materials at hand.

Instead birds need our help in other ways. Spring is the time we prune and trim, clean up our yards, or perhaps start a building project. Please take the time to look for nests before you begin and delay your work if you find any. Be especially mindful of the tiny Anna's hummingbird's nest; it's only about an inch across. Generally speaking, disturbance or molestation of a bird, its eggs, or its nest is prohibited by federal and provincial acts, mostly during nesting season (January to September here), but some species and their nests, such as great blue herons, eagles, and ospreys, are protected year-round, and special development permits are required by local government (CVRD).

If you come across what appears to be an abandoned nest, allow a couple of days for the birds to return and if they don't, contact a wildlife agency before attempting to remove it. If you find a baby bird out of the nest, the rule of thumb is that if it has feathers, leave it be. It's a fledgling that is being watched by its parents and will soon learn to fly. If the baby has no feathers, gently place the hatchling back in the nest or, if inaccessible, place it in a container lined with shredded paper towel and fasten or place it as close to the nest as possible, in the hopes that the parents will continue to care for it. You may worry about touching a baby bird or a nest because your scent will cause the birds to abandon the babies or the nest. This is an old wives' tale. A songbird's sense of smell isn't very good.
